DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-18, 31-42, and 46 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites "said square or rectangular cross-section" which lacks of antecedent basis.

Claims 2-9 depend on claim 1 and become indefinite as well.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2, 4, 8-11, 13, 17-32, 34, 38-42, and 46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kojima et al. (US 5622567).

With respect to claims 1 and 31, Kojima discloses the claimed invention, especially in Fig. 14, an apparatus for irradiating a laser beam comprising a laser oscillator 10 for emitting a plurality of laser beams having different wavelengths from each other (col. 10, lines 33-44); an optical system 7 and 9 for informing an energy distribution of each of laser beams and for processing each of said plurality of laser beams having different wavelengths from each other into said square or rectangular cross-section on said surface an object 5 to be irradiated; and a stage 11 over which the object to be irradiated is disposed. It is noted that optical system 9 is a cylindrical lens which outputs beams having linear cross section.

With respect to claims 2, 11, and 32 Kojima also discloses the laser oscillator 10 includes YAG laser (Fig. 81).

Art Unit: 2828

With respect to claims 4, 13, and 34 Kojima discloses said object is a non-single crystal semiconductor film comprising silicon (col. 38, lines 55-64)

With respect to claims 8, 17, and 38, Kojima further discloses the wavelength of 19 nm which is less than 600 nm.

With respect to claims 9, 18, and 39, see the abstract.

With respect to claims 10 and 46, Kojima discloses the claimed invention as shown in the rejection of claims 1 and 31 with means for moving the object is the stage 11 and 14 wherein the means for moving object is a linear motor 14.

With respect to claims 40-42, 7 is first optical system and 9 is the second optical system.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 5-7, 12, 14-16, 33, and 35-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kojima et al. (US 5622567) in view of Byer (US 5673281).

Kojima discloses the claimed invention with suggestion using YAG laser for the laser oscillator except for explicitly teaching if the YAG is a zigzag type and the different wavelengths from each other comprising second, third, and fourth harmonic laser beams. Byer discloses in Fig. 3 a zigzag slab type YAG laser with a second harmonic beam generated by the nonlinear crystal 22. It would have been obvious to the one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide zigzag type laser and frequency doubling crystal as taught by Byer to Kojima in order to extend the optical path in the laser medium to provide more gain from the same laser medium (col. 8, lines 5-9). It is well known in the art to nonlinear crystals and arrange them in external cavity could result higher order harmonic wavelengths such as third and fourth harmonic.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 43-45 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
